Terminology colors facts

A university, according to Random House American College Dictionary, is an institution of learning having a college of liberal arts and a program of graduate studies, together with several professional schools and faculties, and authorized to confer a degree.

To use the terminology Baez University or Baez U as it was referred to in the local daily press, is ridiculous, even in sarcasm. Or it indicates a usage of words solely to influence and color the public mind. The fact that this piece of misinformation was picked up by a Carmel Valley resident indicates success.

When applying for the use permit, Miss Baez made it clear that the group was organized for learning and discussion with NO authority to confer degrees and no classification as a state licensed private school in the academic sense.

Perhaps it would have been more correct to apply for a permit to conduct a paid lecture series with audience participation, since basically that is what this is.

If the appeal decision is based on anything other than the legal issue, it will be ludicrous.

I can only hope that in the nation's press (and this will have national publicity) Carmel Valley will be linked with the principles of democracy and freedom of expression rather than fear and prejudice. -GD

Letters to the Editor

Editor:

We are struck by the inconsistency of the argument that can justify U.S. and other deaths on the battlefield in Viet Nam on the grounds that freedom is a higher value than life itself, and in the same breath justify the suppression of freedom in Carmel Valley on the grounds that it interferes with the general welfare and sensibilities of its inhabitants.

We hope that the Board of Supervisors will see fit to uphold the decision of the Planning Commission in the case of the Institute for the Study of Non-violence.

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Senger
Valle Vista Road

The following letter, which is being sent to Supervisor Tom Hudson, was forwarded to the Outlook for reprint in the Letters to the Editor.

Dear Mr. Hudson,

As property owners in Carmel Valley and citizens of your district we feel confident that, while supporting our government's efforts to preserve freedom in Vietnam, you will not be willing to let prejudice destroy our freedoms and the rights of the minority here at home. We believe that if the board of supervisors should be led to reverse the decision of the planning commission by not granting a use permit to the Institute for the Study of Non-Violence our own freedom to express our opinions and to follow the dictates of conscience will be threatened.

Peacemakers throughout history have often had to suffer the most terrible hostility and bloodthirsty persecution. Surely Carmel Valley with its large population of military and retired military people (among whom we count ourselves) can live in peace with this tiny group which seeks to find an alternative to hatred and destruction.

Nancy Lang will conduct dance class at MPC

Nancy Lang, a dancer and teacher of modern dance who decided the West is "way ahead of the East in creative development in all art forms," will conduct two master classes at Monterey Peninsula College, Wednesday, December 1.

Under the sponsorship of Miss Diane Smith of the MPC physical education department, Miss Lang will take groups of students at 11 a.m. and again at 7:30 p.m. in the Armory on campus. The master classes, planned for both students and teachers of the dance, will emphasize technical approaches and offer teaching materials in relation to modern dance repertory, according to Miss Lang.

Participants will be charged $1; observers will be admitted for 50 cents. Advance reservations may be made through Miss Smith at the college.

Miss Lang is preparing to open a studio soon in Carmel. She has had extensive study and teaching experience in the studios of Martha Graham, May O'Donnell and Gertrude Shurr and has danced under such illustrious choreographers of the American dance world as Miss Graham, Hanya Holm and Lester Horton. She toured with the May O'Donnell Dance Company throughout the United States, appearing in the great auditoriums on both coasts. She has appeared on television in her own dances and in such Broadway shows as "Kiss Me Kate" and "Shootin' Star."

Carmelo 4-H has Hob-Goblin night

Oops, we're sorry!

Names of the grandparents of newly arrived Kenneth Edward Lute were confused in last week's "Under the Oaks and Cacti." The article should have read; "Adding their welcome in Carmel Valley were his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Getz, his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Ada Ferguson of Salinas, and paternal grandfather, Mr. Leo Lute of Grass Valley.

Horsemen's Assn. announces new slate of officers

The Carmel Valley Horsemen's Association held an election of officers following a spaghetti feed last week at the Parish Hall of Our Lady of Mount Carmel Catholic Church. New president of the organization is Richard McKenzie. Serving with McKenzie will be Delight Escobar, vice president; Ann Agee, secretary; and Vic Silva, treasurer. Members elected to the Board of Directors were Bill Agee, Jeannette Hogan, and two second term directors, Pat Christiansen and Marvin Rasmussen. ANDREW F. HUFF

Requiem mass was celebrated Monday morning at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Catholic Church in Carmel Valley for Andrew Francis Huff, 15, who died Friday morning in a local hospital as the result of a gunshot wound in the head. The accidental shooting occurred November 10 on the Carmel Valley property of his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Boyd F. Huff. Dr. Huff is a professor at the U. S. Naval Postgraduate School.

With his family, the youth was resident of Carmel Valley for the past seven years. He was born April 10, 1950, in Oakland.

The Carmel High School student was well liked by adults as well as his contemporaries. He was active in competitive sports and particularly interested in outdoor activities, having planned to study forestry in the future. He served his church as an altar boy. In addition to his parents, Andrew survived by a brother, Jerome B. Huff, a student at the University of Arizona, and his grandparents. Interment took place at Monterey Catholic Cemetery. The Mission Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

Friends wishing to make memorial contributions may do so in the form of spiritual bouquets, or through donations to the Monterey USO.

Mary Clark's

Wax packaging method adds to decor of new Village shop

Mary Clark Johnson is busily dressing her candy shop for Thanksgiving and Christmas. One of the newest businesses in the Village, Mary Clark's is located back of the Valley Center Building in the former Monterey Pottery space.

It is fascinating to see the fruit cakes, plum puddings, jams and jellies, gaily wrapped and beribboned in what appears from a distance to be crepe paper. Upon closer examination it turns out to be "wrapped in wax" to maintain the utmost in freshness. The process which she has developed and used in her Southern California shop has been copywrited and registered with the patent office. This is wise since the special effect of the wax wrapping is both useful and ornamental and would be a tremendous temptation to copy.

By taking the goodies at the moment of freshness and thus wrapping them, they are preserved for weeks, months or even years, in a state of absolute freshness, she states. Different colors of wax are used to denote different flavors.

Plum puddings are packaged in white wax. There are four different types of preserves, strawberry in red wax, orange blossom honey in blue, Date Dandy in green and Aloha Dandy in yellow. Fruit cakes and fruit nut surprise (chunks of fruit and nuts, blended and flavored with rum) come wrapped in rose or green wax. The festive appearing parcels are then topped with ribbons and spangles.

While much of her quantity waxing is still done in Southern California, individual special orders as well as daily supplies are being done in the Carmel Valley Shop. In addition to the cakes, puddings and preserves, there is also a wide variety of candies ranging from chocolates of all kinds to peanut brittle and caramelized corn made with honey, butter and nuts.

Mrs. Johnson (Mary Clark) intends to make the Valley her home as soon as she can find a suitable place to live. She expects to accomplish this soon, evidently, since her furniture arrives next week. Although she has been extremely busy getting everything ready for the holiday rush, she enjoys time out to visit with her son, Bud Johnson, who lives on 17 Mile Drive in Pebble Beach.

ABOVE--Mary Clark Johnson gussies her wax packaged fruit cakes and plum puddings with ribbons and sparkle to give them an ultra-festive holiday look. Community Church building fund campaign goal is $130,000 Workers in the Building Fund Campaign of the Community Church of the Monterey Peninsula attended a dinner meeting held on November 15 at El Estero Presbyterian Church. Carl J. Bosholt is chairman of the team organization in this campaign for which workers were commissioned in the Worship Service on the 14th. Division leaders are James B. Pruitt, Philip Livingston, co-leaders Howard Timbers and Ted Fehring, and Charles Pearson, Jr., leader of the Youth Division.

Mr. Leo F. Miller is serving as chairman of the Building Fund Campaign Committee which has a goal of $130,000. This amount, plus other funds available, will provide for construction of the first phase of the master plan for the non-denominational church. The building site is near the entrance to Carmel Valley.

Storm causes several CV power failures

Trees rubbing on power lines at Phelps Way and West Carmel Valley Road shorted out the main line November 13 at 4:30 p.m. Firemen relayed the call to P.G. & E. Enroute to the station at 5:00 p.m. they were directed by radio to the Tom Prescott residence on Aliso Road where a tree had fallen across the road and onto telephone lines. At 8:15 p.m. electric wires sparking in trees at Canary Cottages took a standby truck to the scene until help arrived from P.G. & E.

Violinist Igor Oistrakh to open season

Igor Oistrakh, noted Soviet violinist, will open the Carmel Music Society's 1965-66 season, on Friday, December 3, at 8:30 p.m.

The famous son of a famous father, violinist David Oistrakh, the artist will be brought to North America by S. Hurok under the Cultural Exchange Agreement between the U.S. State Department and the Soviet Ministry of Culture.

Igor Oistrakh was born in Odessa in 1931. He began playing the violin at the age of six, studying both with his father and his father's teacher, Pyotr Stoliarsky, who also taught Nathan Milstein.

Winning both the Budapest and Wieniawski Competitions at the end of World War II, Igor Oistrakh emerged from Moscow in 1963 to conquer London and Paris. Cecil Smith, in the Daily Express, called him "a genius" after his Albert Hall debut and, a week later, when young Oistrakh played unaccompanied Bach at the Royal Festival Hall he wrote, "that big word still stands." In France, with a solo recital at Paris' Palais de Chaillot and as soloist with the Conservatoire Orchestra under Andre Cluytens, Oistrakh again won high critical acclaim.

The violinist made his American debut with a recital in Philadelphia on February 1, 1962.

RLS students aid Vietnamese with soap collection campaign

by PHIL FLEMING

The students of the Robert Louis Stevenson School are fighting the war in Viet-Nam in their own way. Recently they sent a resolution supporting the effort of the U.S. government in Viet-Nam to President Johnson. Now they are actively involved in helping the Vietnamese help themselves—they are collecting soap to send to the war zone in an effort to help better the living conditions of the people living there.

The campaign to collect soap and other supplies was started last Thursday when Student Body President John Steele camp and moved.

NOV. 11--A resident of East Garzas Road reported a late model car parked near her house for half a n hour at 12:51 a.m. Sheriff was nearby and arrived in minutes. Two young men, 18 and 19 years old claimed they were waiting for the girlfriend of one to get back from a movie. Deputy told them to move along.

received a letter from a former Student Body President, now a lieutenant of Marines in command of a patrol in the Chu Lai area, where the fighting is frequently very heavy. The letter stated in part:

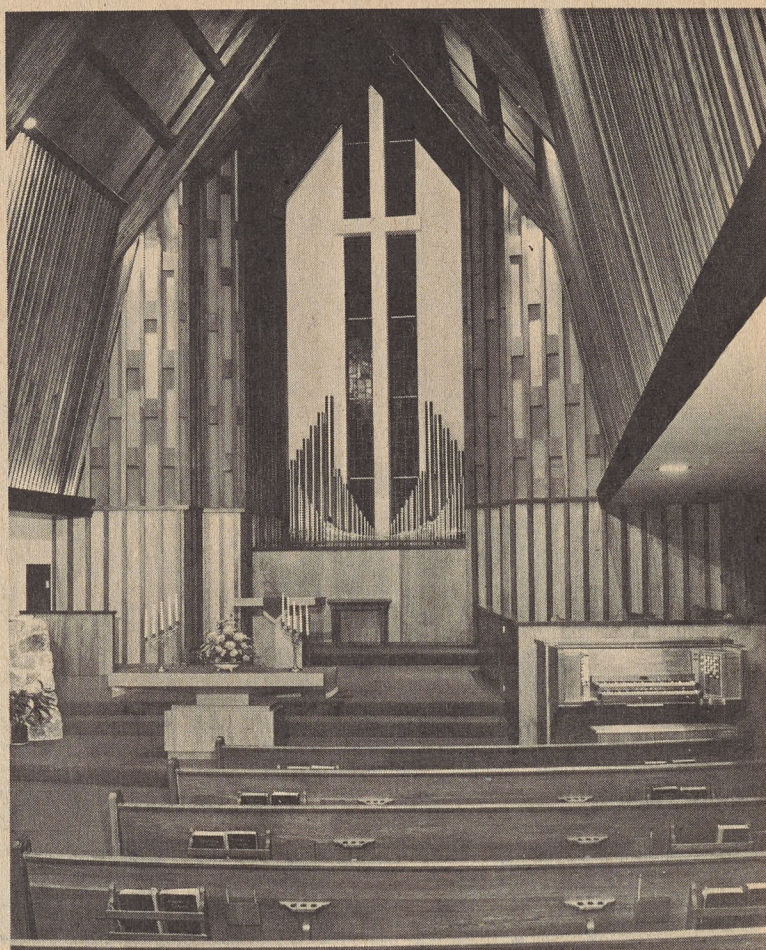

"While on patrol in Chu Lai area, my platoon of Marines continually passes through many Vietnamese villages where life can only be described as being in the Dark Ages. These poor farmers utilize the most primitive of agricultural methods, and inhabit one-room thatched huts which they share with their pigs, chickens, and cows. The resulting filth in these villages is beyond comparison to anything in the worst slums of our country. And the additional burden of no medical facilities leaves these way out villages the host to numerous diseases and infections.

Sadly enough the children suffer the worst from these conditions, and carry the evidence of their suffering in large infected sores and horrible rashes which cover their bodies."

The letter goes on to say that the best thing WE can do for these people is send medical supplies and especially soap to Viet-Nam to help these poor people.

As a response to this appeal, the Student Council of the Stevenson School charged Larry Keuchler, author of the Viet-Nam Resolution, with collecting soap from the students and, it is hoped, the citizens of our Monterey Peninsula. This last week-end, teams of Stevenson students canvassed the hotels and motels of the Peninsula to get those bars of soap used by guests and then discarded. All the soap collected will be sent by air mail to Viet-Nam at regular intervals.

Review:

'Affairs of Anatol' opens at White Oaks

One certainly could find little fault with any of the acting in the White Oaks Theatre production of "Affairs of Anatol." The play is billed as a comedy and relates the involvement of a Viennese man about town with seven of his lovely lady friends. The ladies are as different as night and day in their personalities and appearances, but they truly are all lovely and friendly. There are times however, when one wonders if the play is really a comedy as billed.

The physical character of the play uses seven different scenes to portray Anatol's seven different meetings with the women in his life. Each is amusing at start, but as each of them turns to argument, bickering or slough-off (Anatol is marrying an eighth wench whom you never meet) the portrayal seems to border too much on the heavy, breaking the thin filament that has kept it all so light and airy. It all seems too, too, real instead of gossamer. This, I would presume, is a matter of interpretation of the play itself.

Each of the seven ladies is so completely different from each of the others that it is a delight to watch them perform. Linda Boblitt, whom we think is one of the most talented young people ever to grace White Oaks, is her usual scene-stealing self as Hilda. Her humor is always delivered so well, and yet in each production in which she has played, there has been no monotony or sameness in her approach to a role. Her timing is excellent and her twinkle is ever present.

Tracy Carr as Gabrielle is nostalgic and brief as a passing scene on the sidewalk with a former love. The sidewalk, incidentally is that chaise which doubles as a scene change in the front of the stage, by cleverly raising the actors off stage level and into a confined area.

Toni Brandt, daughter of Sam and Judy Brandt of CV Post Office fame, plays Bianca, who has had a short affair with Anatol and meets him at his friends room. She cannot remember him and his reaction as the gay young blade over whom all girls are pining is well done. Toni plays to Anatol in a most believable way.

Karin Gjording plays Emily in very low key contrast to the other ladies. One almost finds her wishywashy and sad, which would indicate a good job of acting, since she is not at all this way off-stage. In this scene, however, the accusations and recriminations seem out of balance with the character of the Opera at Steinbeck Theatre for four performances only

The film presentation of "Der Rosenkavalier" will play for four performances in a special engagement at the Steinbeck Theater on December 1 and 2. All seats are reserved and tickets are now on sale at the box office.

"Der Rosenkavalier" was produced by the J. Arthur Rank organization and filmed in color on stage at the Salzberg Festival in Austria.

The cast features names that are known in opera houses throughout the world. Among those appearing are Elizabeth Schwartzkopf, Sena Jurinac, Otto Edelmann, Erich Kunz and Anneliese Rothenberger.

The opera film has received plaudits from the New York Herald Tribune, New York Times and the Washington Post as a presentation of excellence. Camera closeups give a vantage point not possible from the normal opera viewing audience. Sets and costumes in lavish detail give a beautiful background for a "wonderful performance of a great opera," according to the New York Times review.

Matinee performances on Wednesday, December 1 and Thursday, December 2 will begin at 2 p.m. The two evening performances will be at 8 p.m. Reserved seats at $2.50 and $3.50 are available by mail or at the Steinbeck Theater box office.

SPECIAL SHOWING

The Tantamount Theatre will have a special Thanksgiving show on Thursday in addition to their regular Friday and Saturday night film presentation. All three showings of the original movie of "The Thief of Bagdad" will begin at 8 p.m. because of the length of the feature. This original version filmed in 1924, is suitable as family entertainment and stars Douglas Fairbanks.

Prospective members, Mrs. William Parham and Mrs. Arthur Harber, were honored during the refreshment hour at the November meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Carmel Valley Volunteer Fire Department. Mrs. George Palmer was hostess to the organization at her home on Paso Hondo. Tickets were distributed to members to sell for their annual Christmas Doll Benefit. As in years past, proceeds will be donated as the Christmas gift from the Auxiliary to Children's House. The doll presently on display at Ellen Waters Shop is a 26" walking Horseman Doll. With her cart and 9 month size wardrobe she will be moved next week to the Sugar and Spice Shop and then on to visit with other Valley merchants. She will be awarded during the Christmas Party for Valley Firemen and their families on December 19. Tickets are available at Village shops or from any Auxiliary member. The donation is 25¢ or 5 for $1.00.

The hospitality of Sally and Kay Witter spanned coast to coast when they welcomed houseguests the last two weekends at their home on El Echo Way. From Utica and New Hartford, New York came their oldest sister and her husband, Dr. and Mrs. Robert G. Knapp, Sr. Following their Valley visit the Knapps went to Oceanside to visit their son. Last weekend Sally and Kay's sister-in-law, Mrs. George Witter arrived from Los Angeles accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Mary Kierwan of Yakima, Washington.

A speedy recovery to Ruth Thomsen, Tularcitos School's favorite nurse, who fell Sunday at her home on El Echo Way and fractured her hip. She was taken to the Community Hospital by the First Aid Squad of the Carmel Valley Volunteer Fire Department where she underwent surgery. The Outlook was there too!

PRINCESS MARGARET and her husband, the Earl of Snowden, charmed all they came in contact with during their brief stop on the Monterey Peninsula. The royal party briefly chatted with dignitaries at the airport before leaving for Palo Corona, the Carmel Valley ranch of Stuyvesant Fish.

Editor's note: During the recent visit of Princess Margaret and her husband, we had the pleasure of being a member of the welcoming press at the Naval Air Facility when the royal party landed.

In the rush of getting as close as possible to watch the charming and gracious Princess as she was greeted by Monterey Mayor Minnie Coyle, we almost forgot to take pictures. After she had been presented with the symbol of the Monterey Peninsula, a tiny potted cypress tree and an armful of luscious roses, Meg and her husband, both smiling and waving, walked to their big black car with host Stuyvesant Fish and were whisked away and down the road. From touchdown to the motor caravan not more than five minutes elapsed in a smooth, security operation planned by the Valley's Cmdr. Bill Stowers.

We were impressed, Bill, by the gracious way it was accomplished. Although the security was the tightest, it all looked so casual, so gracious and not in the least military!

Valleyite named to committee to study education

Marshall Chatwin of San Carlos Road, Carmel Valley, director of Counseling and guidance at Monterey Peninsula College, has been named to a five-man Danforth Foundation committee to study proposals to "improve the personal aspect of education."

The committee, whose membership will also include representatives of San Francisco Bay Area junior colleges and one Foundation representative, has been asked to accomplish the following tasks: 1st, to explore and discover...various solutions to the problem of depersonalization of education.

2nd, to receive proposals from the junior colleges and to send recommendations to the Danforth Foundation regarding financial support for those projects which, in the judgment of the committee, contain merit.

3rd, to send to the Foundation in July 1966, a report on the year's work.

In a letter to Chatwin, James W. Swift, assistant director of the Danforth Foundation, which is located in St. Louis, said "They selected this geographical location for possible pilot projects because it seems a good testing ground." He added "We trust that programs developed there will prove to be of worth in other sections of the country."

How to do it better with WATER

DISHWASHING MADE EASIER THAN EVER...

If you really want to give water a chance to work more efficiently—and save yourself hours of work—be sure to look into the new automatic dishwashers. They're better than ever!

With these new modern servants you can use much hotter water than by hand washing. And the new dishwashers give extra rinses—clean just about everything better, including pots and pans. There are many types to choose from, including free-standing models, counter top types that work without electricity and the sink attachments that replace your faucets.

The constant improvement in dishwashers and appliances is stimulated by competition. While ours is not a competitive business, we feel that regulation is a substitute for competition. A State Commission must approve our water rates and the income we may produce for our investors. And in our constant need for new capital to finance construction and improvements, we do face stiff competition from unregulated industries that earn at a much higher rate than we do.

Newsmen in the Navy – on carrier Kitty Hawk

Well, temporarily at least, for 8 days to Hawaii

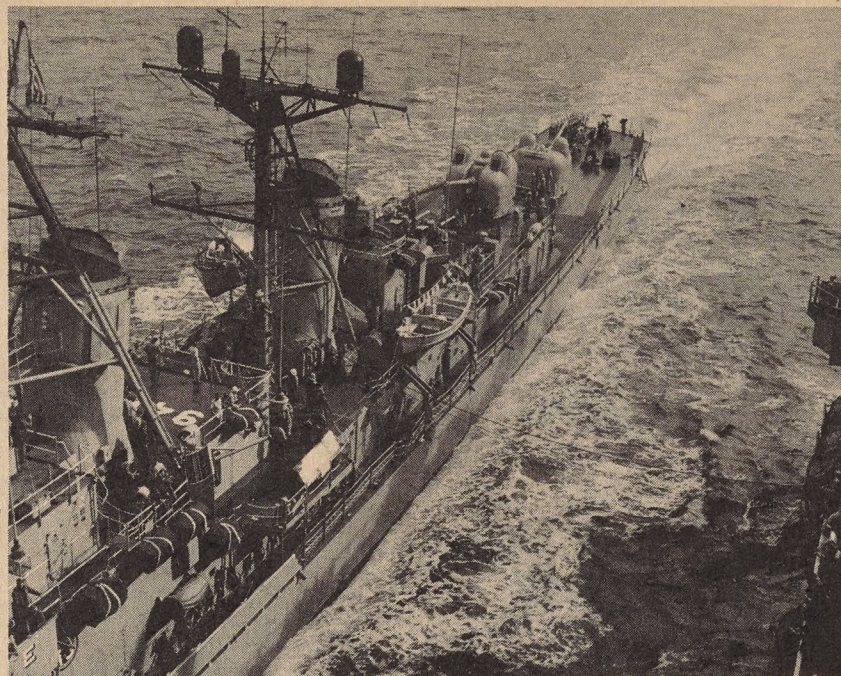

A band did its best to boost spirits of families left on the pier at San Diego as the U. S. S. Kitty Hawk left for the South China Sea. Aboard were 13 press representatives, including Publisher Bill Norton, as Navy guests.

A tug pushes off the giant 80,000-ton aircraft carrier. Photo is from one of the ship's elevators that lift planes from the cavernous hangar deck to the flight deck.

Action at sea — catapaulted planes Unexpected drama — 2 men overboard

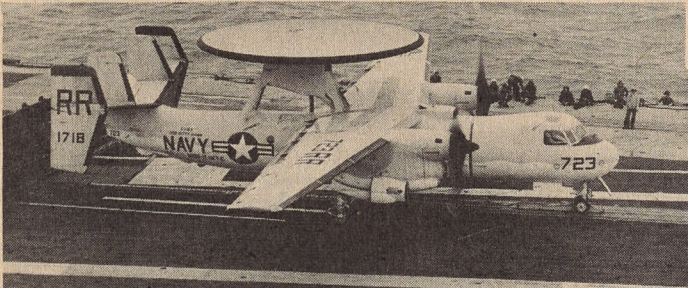

Capt. Martin Carmody, a San Jose State College grad who played guard on its famous winning football team of the 1930's, was a top salesman for the Navy. On the captain's bridge he talks with Lt. Cmdr. Robert Bernhardt of Sunnyvale, chief escort for the press group and a reservist on his two weeks' duty. He is a Philco company executive in civilian life.

Looking at the coast of Oahu from a Marine helicopter which flew the press group to the Marine's Kaneohe Air Base for an impressive demonstration, including a mock Viet Nam village.

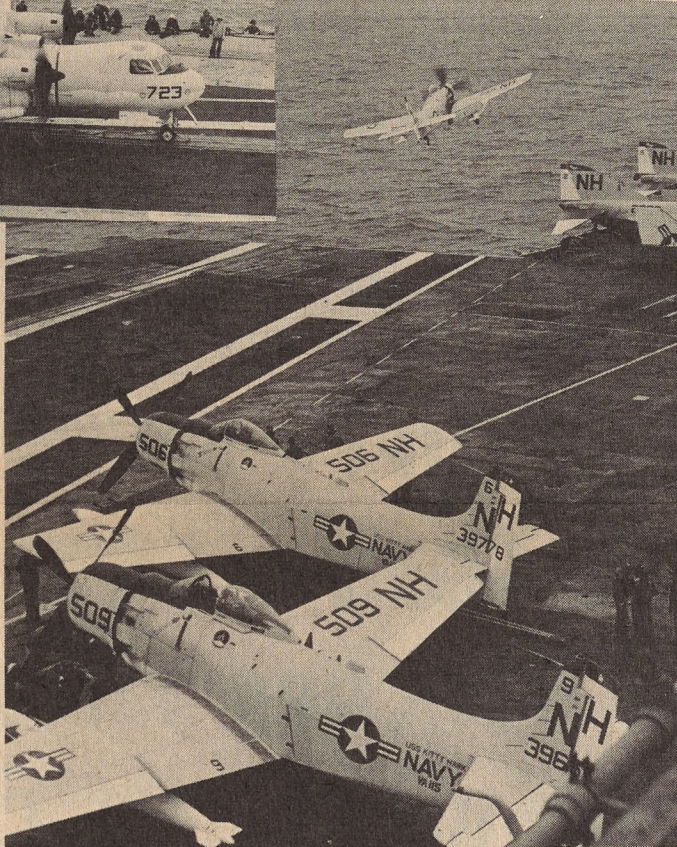

Away goes one of the dependable Skyraider prop planes, which have been seeing yeoman service in Viet Nam. Aboard were about 75 planes, mostly jets.

Radar planes like this extend the Kitty Hawk's eyes by hundreds of miles.

Cmdr. William McCullough, executive officer of the Kitty Hawk, buttons Norton into a Mae West life jacket before being catapaulted off in an airplane.

Drama on the high seas when two sailors fell overboard. One was rescued. The Kitty Hawk, with most of the crew looking quietly out at the sea, and four escorting destroyers searched for 12 hours in vain for the second man.

Tularcitos flag football team vies with Middle School

A new innovation at Tularcitos School is the Flag football teams of the fifth and sixth grades. Bob Hoover, coach of the teams explained that flag football is similar to touch football except it is played a little harder, but not as rough as regular tackle football.

In flag football, instead of tackling or touching, the boys must snatch the flag from the hip of the opposing player and hold it high in the air to indicate a tackle.

This is eight man football, working off the "T" formation. The boys play the fifth and sixth grades at the Middle School and competition and fun have been hard and heavy. The trend so far, according to Bob Hoover, is to split the games with one Tularcitos team winning and one Middle School team winning. The boys practice three times a week, on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday afternoons in the field behind Tularcitos. They practice hard for about one and a half hours. Games are played on Saturday at the Middle School field and start at 9 a.m. Play generally continues until about 11:30.

Steve Hohler is captain of the sixth grade blue team and Bob Conlan and Ted Hall are co-captains of the fifth grade green team.

The coaches of the two sets of teams feel that this preliminary training will give the young athletes a better understanding of football when they go into high school. The formation of teams at Tularcitos also keeps those fifth and sixth grade youngsters on the same athletic program as the Carmel fifth and sixth graders who presently attend Middle School.

'Affairs of Anatol'

One of the funniest scenes in the play occurs in the farewell supper where Corliss Nickerson as Anni devours a meal of oysters and other goodies at Sacher's Restaurant, all the time talking a blue streak.

Mary Pattie who plays Elsa, the wife who is having an affair with Anatol because it is fun to have an affair is reticent about letting him go. But when he suggests actually running away, her reactions are beautifully played.

Karen Kondan, the tempestuous Ilona who throws dishes all over the set in a temper tantrum is real and really wraps Anatol up, almost. One holds one's breath in during the throwing since some of the bric-a-brac pieces are real antiques, and I'm sure Ilona doesn't stop to look. Her hysteria is a magnificent piece of acting...the only question is, again...is this comedy? It appears to this reviewer that it should be kept more in the fantasy quality.

Rick Morse as Anatol, carries the difficult position of being on stage constantly throughout the entire play with ease and debonair flair. He has magnificently expressive eyes which he uses to great advantage as the young man about town.

His bespectacled friend, Max, played by George Shea, is a fine foil and contrast. Perhaps this, then, is what director Tom Gruenewald is doing...playing people and the two sides of people against each other and themselves with highs and lows in action, comedy and personalities.

The sets by Joan Larkey, in which she uses the two moveable towers are outstanding and it is unbelievable what she has done with limited space to portray the opulence and rococo quality of Vienna.

There are five different Anatol scenes and they are changed by the most engaging of nymphs in the persons of Barbara Mankinster and Dorothy Collins. Barbara has made many appearances on the White Oaks stage and her glee and teasing quality is a great addition to every scene. Dorothy, a ballet student who has appeared in that capacity at the theatre joins Barbara in a picture of gracefulness and fun. It's worth going just to see them!

The costuming is outstanding and lavish...and one wonders how the ladies walk in their dresses. Corliss Nickerson designed the finery and did an excellent job.

We would recommend the play as a tremendous undertaking that has been meticulously handled by director Tom Gruenewald. He has put those kids through their paces and it shows.

Plancom lists Valley items

The Planning Commission agenda will carry a large number of Carmel Valley matters during the afternoon hours of Wednesday's meeting in Salinas.

Daimond "N" application for the Los Laureles Hills subdivision will come before the commission at 1:35 for a final decision. Since the last Plan-Com meeting, the revised plans have been submitted to the Upper Valley Advisory Board who recommended approval.

At 2:20 Fred Horne's request for a reclassification of property which was continued from last meeting is scheduled.

August Nieto will present his preliminary plan for a golf course, club house, pro shop, green belt, and garden apartments on 25,086 acres behind Middle School at 3:20.

The continued hearing on the application of Robert Adkins for Granite Construction Company to remove road building materials from Carmel River will come before the commission at 3:45. The Upper Valley Advisory Board recommended denial of this application prior to the last hearing.

Applications have been submitted by F. M. Landsdowne and Duane Sandgren for panhandle lots in La Rancheria which will be considered at 4:05 and 4:10.

Use permits for allowed usages in a C-1 zoning have been applied for by the Angene Feves Ballet Studio and White Oaks Dancing Academy in the Larry Cummings building on Del Fino Place. These will be reviewed at 4:20 and 4:25.

Gerald Petkus has applied for a re-issuance of a use permit for a veterinary hospital at Valley Drive and Center, which will be considered at 4:30.

CV Chamber of Commerce elects board members

Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce elected ten new members to the board of directors at an evening meeting held last Wednesday at Carmel Valley Inn. Approximately 50 persons attended the dinner.

New members are Ed Hogan, Larry Cummings, Herb Brownell, Ken Van Hagen, Henriette Jewett, Tom Hefling, Skip Marquard, Stan Ewig, Maury Nessel and Joan Bennett.

Holdover members of the board are Rex White, Tom Verga, Luis Wolters, Ed Marcucci, Lou Gardner, Clark Swan, Bill Norton, Ron Mitchell and Paul Porter.

The combined members of the board will meet this week to elect new officers for the coming year.

Members agreed to join the Salinas chamber last Saturday in a silent protest against the marches in Berkeley.

In other business they moved to continue their opposition to the Institute for the Study of Non-Violence and to donate $50 towards attorney's fees if necessary.
